

Get ready for your Adventure to

COOK ISLAND

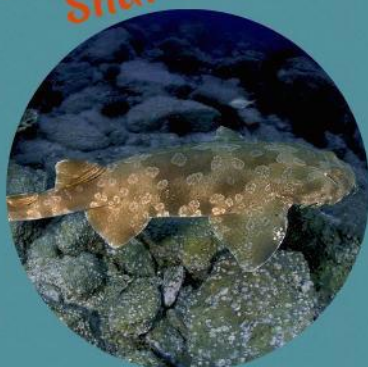

Bottlenose Dolphin

Leopard Shark

Wobbegong Shark

Squid

Cook Island was first named Turtle Island for obvious reasons in 1823. It's name was changed to Cook Island 5 years later to be named after James Cook who first sighted Fingal Head in 1770. The Island was declared an Aquatic Reserve in 1998. So now all the temperate, subtropical and subtropical marine life that you will encounter today are protected.

Puffer Fish

Grey Nurse Shark

Clown Fish

HOW MANY WILL YOU SEE?

